

Tintin

Rue du Lot 15, 1200 Geneva, Switzerland
+41 22 123 456 | tintin@example.com

Geneva, 28 February 2026

To:

Secretary General Valdecy Urquiza
INTERPOL
200 quai Charles de Gaulle
69006 Lyon, France

Application – Senior Investigator

With great respect and a certain amount of humility, I hereby submit my application for the position of Senior Investigator at INTERPOL. After more than 30 years as an adventure reporter, I have decided that the time has come to take the decisive leap from journalism to international criminal investigation.

Throughout my career, I have had the privilege of collaborating with your outstanding investigators worldwide – not least with the legendary detectives Dupont and Dupond, whom I have had the pleasure of assisting on several international investigations. Their accounts of INTERPOL's work have inspired me to contribute to the Organization's important mission.

My experience spans widely: from uncovering international smuggling networks in Asia to contributing to rescue operations in outer space. I have worked under pressure in dangerous situations where quick thinking and diplomatic finesse were essential. My ability to navigate complex, international cases has repeatedly proven invaluable.

I am not just seeking a job – I am seeking an opportunity to bring my unique combination of journalistic thoroughness, investigative experience, and international networks to bear on a greater cause. With my retirement from active journalism, I feel the timing is ideal to focus on what I have always been passionate about: bringing criminals to account and helping the innocent.

A personal note: my old friend, Professor Calculus, would have been fascinated by the technological advances we have witnessed in recent decades. When you think about it – if we had artificial intelligence back when I started my career, Calculus would undoubtedly have been on the Moon and Mars already in the first album! Now that I myself am approaching an age where others enjoy retirement, I look forward to using my experience in a way that can truly make a difference.

I am ready to contribute to INTERPOL's mission to combat international crime. I hope that my unique background can be a resource for the Organization.

Sincerely,

Tintin